“In Friendship We Learn”

REEC Excursion

1B, 1M and 2M were lucky enough to visit the Riverina Environmental Education Centre (REEC) on Tuesday. During the day, students were able to explore small animals (or minibeasts!) to get a better understanding of their features that help them survive. They went on a bushwalk, looked at minibeasts under the microscope and saw a range of terrestrial and aquatic invertebrates. It was a great day for all.

CANTEEN

It's great to see our new lunch crates being looked after so well. Don't forget that the canteen is watching to see who is the most responsible class to win the Term 1 prize.

It has been lovely to discuss individual students' food needs with parents. If any of your children have dietary requirements/food allergies please feel free to drop by the canteen to discuss these needs. We are very happy to help if possible. Just remember to sign in at the office before visiting if within school hours.

DEAR PARENTS Gabbie Stroud

Published: Tuesday 4th February, 2020

This brilliant new release from the bestselling author of Teacher will help parents gain a fresh perspective on our national education system and start the new school year informed and fired up.

Dear Parents is a passionate call to arms informed by two questions: what is the impact of standardised testing on our children's ability to learn? And, how can parents and teachers work in partnership for better educational results?

So many parents are buying the government line about standardised testing of students and programs like NAPLAN and MySchool, which somehow satisfy the 'consumer' in many people. But this book convincingly argues that rankings and comparisons do not equal results. Speaking as an educator with many years of classroom experience, Gabbie Stroud illustrates how these new ways of assessing students' skills are actually doing harm to our kids' ability to learn the crucial life skills and appreciation for learning that has thus far been the primary aim of teaching.

In a 'no-filter' style that is both funny and heartbreaking, Gabbie wants parents to understand their responsibility as the primary educators to their children and demonstrates just how parents can work with teachers to achieve the best schooling experience for every single Australian child.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Gabbie Stroud is a freelance writer, novelist and recovering teacher. After years of juggling the demands of the primary classroom, she became disenchanted and disillusioned, eventually making the painful decision to leave the profession she had loved. In 2016, her critical commentary of Australia's education system was published in Griffith Review's Edition 51 Fixing the System, which went on to be shortlisted for a Walkley Award. Gabbie's smash-hit memoir Teacher was shortlisted for Biography Book of the Year at the 2018 ABIA Awards and contributed to the national dialogue on education. Gabbie lives on the far south coast of New South Wales, where she co-parents her totally awesome girls - Olivia and Sophie, aka Yaya and The Boph.
